Abstract

Islam introduced many forms of trade as well as many means of how to earn profit and either it is lawful and unlawful. There are many internal and external causes and effects of these endorsed and disallowed kinds of trade. Islam logically guides people in the field of business what they should and what shouldn't; what is right and what is wrong.

In the following research the major point, which will be focused critically, what is the status of these reasons and causes for their effects? How much flexibility they are having with their positive and negative results? How much these reasons are practically intervened in the era of global world?

Going through these certain points of view, scholarly it'd be approved that all lawful and unlawful trade kinds discussed by Islam are the main streams for the world economy. Thereby, upcoming paper adopts all external causes of unlawful trades in Islam and discloses, if they are adopted, their social and valuable impact on good and self-governance.
